What would you do with more time together?

No pet owner wants to learn their pet is in pain or suffering.

As a compassionate pet owner, you want to make their life as comfortable and enjoyable for as long as possible. But when serious illnesses or injuries threaten to rob you of precious time with your pet, it can leave you feeling stuck between a rock and a hard place. The good news is that you do have options—options that may ease your pet's suffering and even extend their life.

For pets with bleeding conditions, Yunnan Baiyao offers safe, natural, and powerful healing support.

Yunnan Baiyao is a natural Chinese herbal medicine that helps promote blood circulation and clotting. It is not a miracle cure (although it sometimes seems that way); it is a highly effective natural medicine that stimulates healing. With Yunnan Baiyao, you can give your pet the relief they need while you enjoy more precious moments together.

Yunnan Baiyao

The Basics

What is Yunnan Baiyao?

The herbal formula that has been saving lives for over 100 years

Yunnan Baiyao is a natural and effective herbal formula that can help to stop excessive bleeding and promote healing.

Yunnan Baiyao (meaning “White medicine from the Province of Yunnan” in Mandarin) is a Chinese herbal formula that has been used for centuries to promote blood circulation and stop bleeding—at the same time.

It was initially developed in the early 20th century by a Chinese physician named Qu Huanzhang, who wanted to create a treatment that could quickly stop bleeding in wounded soldiers during war. It has now been widely adopted for veterinary use in pets.

Yunnan Baiyao is made from a blend of herbs that grow in the Yunnan province of China, including a “top secret proprietary blend”, notoginseng (“san qi”), Chinese yam, and Chinese angelica.

Yunnan Baiyao and Dogs

Trusted by veterinarians,
treasured by pet owners

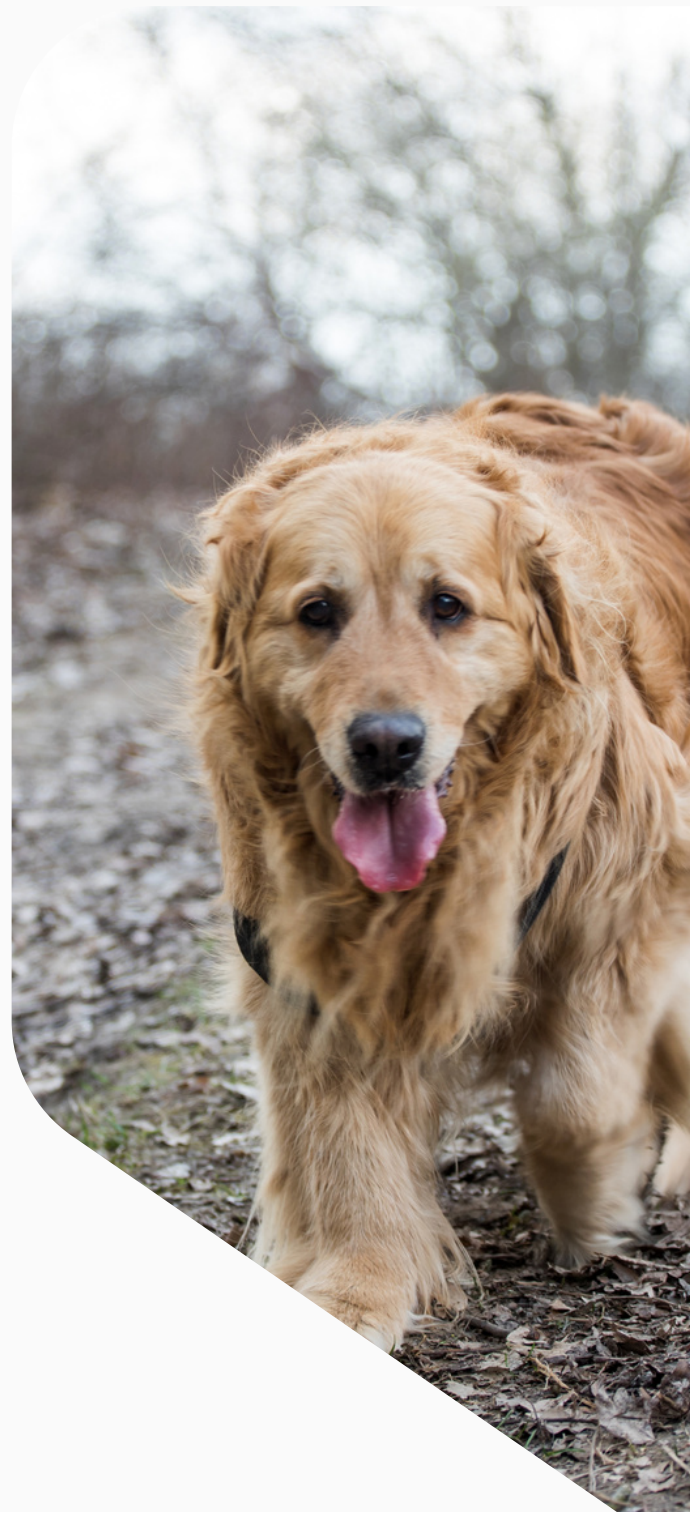

Over half of dogs will develop cancer in their lifetime. As a loving pet owner, there is something you can do to help.

Yunnan Baiyao is one of the most popular and effective natural remedies to support animals through cancer, injuries, tumors, ulcers, bleeding disorders, and more.

How? Yunnan Baiyao works by promoting blood circulation and clotting. This process helps reduce excessive bleeding and eases your pet's pain—all while speeding up their body's natural healing process.

"Yunnan Baiyao can stop some cancers from bleeding. As a veterinarian, I have seen dogs with nasal tumors sneezing blood profusely. I have also seen the bleeding stop when dogs were on Yunnan Baiyao."

Cancer and Dogs

Unfortunately, the prevalence of dog cancers is on the rise. Like cancers in humans, dog cancers are abnormal growths of cells that can occur in various parts of a dog's body. These growths can be benign (non-cancerous) or malignant (cancerous). Either type can cause irritation, pain, and disrupt normal bodily functions. Some of the most common cancers in dogs are lymphomas, osteosarcomas, and hemangiosarcomas. As cancer rates continue to rise, understanding these frequent culprits empowers us to detect, treat, and advocate for our canine companions' well-being effectively.

Yunnan Baiyao and Hemangiosarcoma

Hemangiosarcoma is a type of cancer that affects the blood vessels. It is one of the leading causes of cancer deaths in our beloved four-legged friends.

Thankfully, a hemangiosarcoma diagnosis does not have to mean goodbye just yet. Yunnan Baiyao is a particularly helpful additional therapy for pets with cancer because of its ability to not only stop bleeding, but also slow the growth and spread of cancer cells.

The Research

Research & Yunnan Baiyao

Clinical research on Yunnan Baiyao is growing and continues to show promising results

Research shows Yunnan Baiyao releases platelets to stop bleeding.

In a study published by the Journal of Veterinary Emergency and Critical Care, researchers studied the effects of taking Yunnan Baiyao on blood clotting.

They gave 18 dogs one YB capsule twice a day for a week and tested their blood clotting abilities before and after.

The Results

The test showed that the dogs' clot strength and several other clotting measurements improved.

This suggests that Yunnan Baiyao may help blood clotting and is safe for dogs.

Research & Yunnan Baiyao

Clinical research on Yunnan Baiyao is growing and continues to show promising results

Research shows Yunnan Baiyao helps the body reduce cancer cells.

In a study published by Veterinary and Comparative Oncology, researchers studied the effects of Yunnan Baiyao on three types of cancer cells found in dogs with hemangiosarcoma (HSA).

The researchers treated these cells with different concentrations of Yunnan Baiyao over various time periods.

The Results

Researchers found that Yunnan Baiyao caused cancer cells to become weaker and start to self-destruct, especially when they used more of the medicine or left it on the cells for longer. It also produced a protein (VEGF) that slows tumor growth.

Research & Yunnan Baiyao

Clinical research on Yunnan Baiyao is growing and continues to show promising results

Research shows Yunnan Baiyao can prolong survival and improve a pet's quality of life.

After poor tolerance to conventional chemotherapy and surgery, a 12-year-old terrier mix with Hemangiosarcoma was placed on Yunnan Baiyao. Over two years, the dog maintained a steady quality of life without evidence of further cancer growth or metastases.

The Results

Researchers determined this dog had an "exceptional treatment response" with Yunnan Baiyao, considering the circumstances.

They concluded, "A treatment regimen of metronomic chemotherapy and holistic/alternative treatments [Yunnan Baiyao]... resulted in an exceptional treatment response with a survival of two years with very good quality of life."

Uses, Products, & Dosing

When to Use Yunnan Baiyao

Conditions and symptoms that benefit from Yunnan Baiyao

Cancer & Tumors

Yunnan Baiyao is often used as a supportive treatment for dogs with cancer. It is believed to have anti-tumor properties and may help to boost the immune system.

Bleeding Disorders

Dogs with bleeding disorders such as hemophilia may benefit from Yunnan Baiyao. It can help to reduce bleeding and promote clotting.

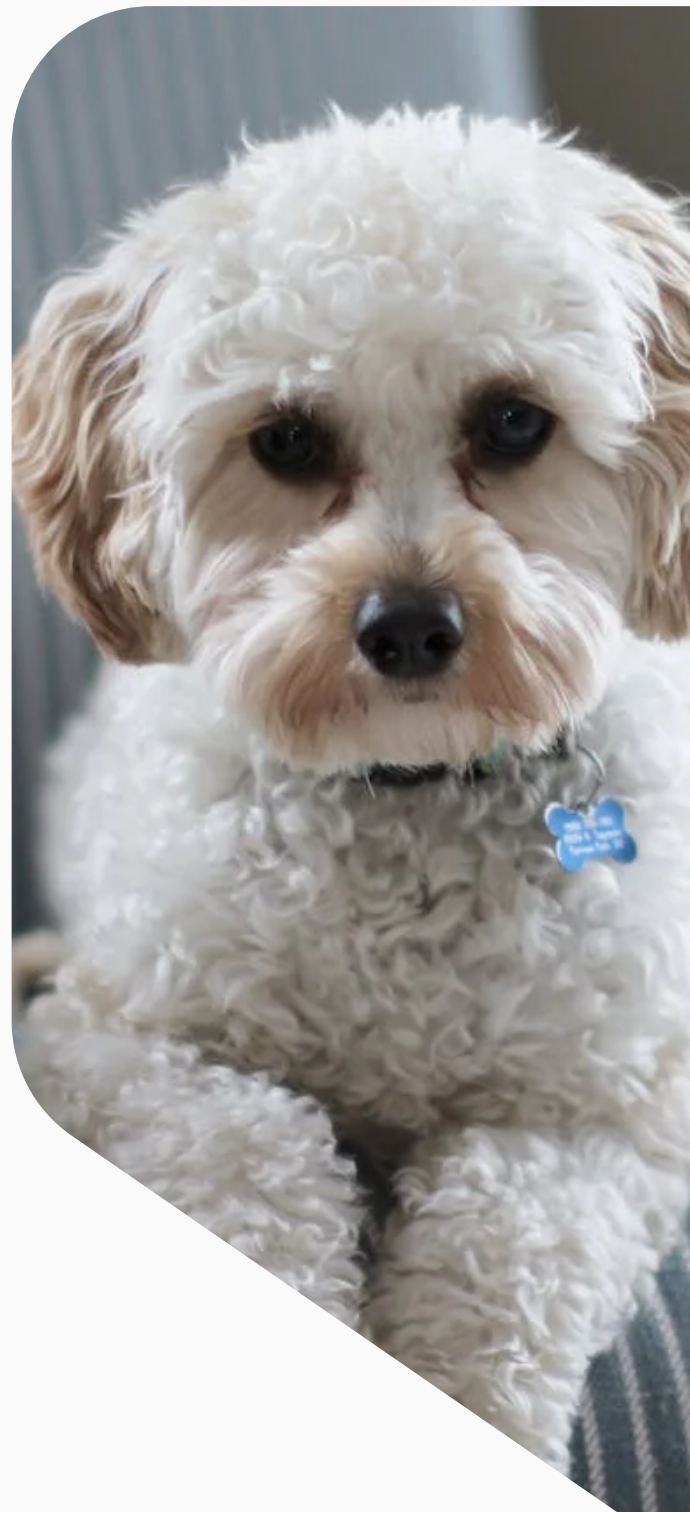

Post-Surgery

Yunnan Baiyao may be recommended before and after your pet's surgery to help reduce bleeding and promote healing.

Trauma & Wound Care

Yunnan Baiyao can be used externally to treat injuries such as cuts, bruises, and puncture wounds—it even stops bleeding from nails cut too short. The formula stops bleeding and speeds up the healing process.

INTERNAL USE

Capsules

Yunnan Baiyao capsules can be taken internally under the recommendation of your veterinarian for pets with bleeding disorders or bleeding cancers.

Give your pet their recommended dose (see page 17) on alternating days, or for a 5-day on, 5-day off cycle that repeats as needed. These capsules can be crushed to use externally on bleeding wounds or cuts.

Each packet also comes with a "magic" red pill. Use this only for emergencies under your veterinarian's instruction. (Learn more in the FAQ on page 22).

Powder

Yunnan Baiyao also comes in a powder form that some pet owners prefer. As a powder, your pet's dose can be mixed into treats for picky pill-takers or easily applied externally to wounds or cuts alone or as a mixture.

As with the capsules, the powder also comes with a red pill that should be reserved only for emergency situations.

Dosage Guide

Determine your dog's right dose

How much Yunnan Baiyao should your dog take?

A successful journey with Yunnan Baiyao starts with knowing your dog's correct dose—and how often to give this dose.

The dosage for Yunnan Baiyao for dogs is typically based on their weight. But, every dog and every case is unique. Some dogs will need more or less based on their specific health situation. Ultimately, you want to find the lowest dosage needed to control bleeding while still getting a therapeutic effect.

It's important to note that this is a general guideline. The recommended dose may vary depending on the condition being treated and the severity of the bleeding. Please consult with a veterinarian to learn the exact best dosage and schedule for your pet.

Dog Weight	Yunnan Baiyao Capsules	Yunnan Baiyao Powder
Under 10 lbs	1 capsule, once daily	25mg, once daily
10-30 lbs	1 capsule, twice daily	25mg, twice daily
31-60 lbs	2 capsules, twice daily	50mg, twice daily
Over 60 lbs	2 capsules, three times daily	50mg, three times daily

Tips for Using Yunnan Baiyao

Make the most of every dose

Additional Tips

- Yunnan Baiyao should not be taken on a daily basis. In most cases, it is best to give it on alternating days, or for a 5-day on, 5-day off cycle that repeats.
- Yunnan Baiyao capsules and powder should be given with food to prevent stomach upset. The powder form can be easily mixed with water or wet food, and the capsule can be given directly or opened and mixed with food.
- 1 package contains 16 capsules, plus one "magic" red capsule. The red capsule is used only in emergency situations—please consult your veterinarian before giving it to your pet.
- While Yunnan Baiyao is a safe and natural formula, it isn't right for every dog. Consult your veterinarian before starting this or any other new supplement to set your pet up for success.

Yunnan Baiyao

Frequently Asked Questions

Frequently Asked Questions

Help your pet with confidence

How does Yunnan Baiyao work?

Yunnan Baiyao contains a powerful herbal combination that works by activating platelets in the blood to promote clotting. At the same time, it encourages blood flow to an injured area which speeds up healing.

What can Yunnan Baiyao help with?

Yunnan Baiyao supports your pet through various bleeding conditions such as bleeding tumors, post-surgical bleeding, and wounds. In dogs, some of the most common uses are hemangiosarcoma and nasal cancers or nosebleeds.

Are there other uses for Yunnan Baiyao?

Yunnan Baiyao can also be used for pain, inflammation, gastrointestinal issues, first-aid, and snakebites. It is used in dogs, cats, horses, and even humans!

How do I know if Yunnan Baiyao is right for my dog?

If your dog is suffering from a bleeding disorder, it's likely that Yunnan Baiyao can help. But, it's always recommended to speak with your veterinarian first. They can assess your dog's condition, medical history, and current medications to determine if adding Yunnan Baiyao will be safe and effective.

"After our dog almost died when the cancerous tumor on her spleen ruptured, the veterinarian gave us a list of 4 capsules she had to take every day. She has had 1 capsule of Yunnan Baiyao twice a day for a year and a half. She is still going strong at 10 years old, and we think this is a good part of the reason."

Frequently Asked Questions

Help your pet with confidence

How long can my dog take Yunnan Baiyao?

Yunnan Baiyao should only be taken under consult of a veterinarian. In some cases, Yunnan Baiyao is recommended for up to 15 days. Other veterinarians recommend a treatment of 5 days on and 5 days off. Daily use may be recommended for dogs with terminal conditions.

Are there any side effects associated with Yunnan Baiyao?

Yunnan Baiyao is safe for dogs when used according to the instructions or under the guidance of a veterinarian. However, as with any medication, there is always a potential for adverse reactions or interactions.

If the dosage is too low, your dog will likely not experience any benefits. If the dosage is too high, your dog may experience symptoms similar to dehydration (diarrhea, frequent urination, increased thirst, or dry/cracked nose and paws). In very rare instances, there may be an allergic reaction. If you observe that in your dog, please discontinue use and consult your veterinarian.

Do you need a vet's prescription to get Yunnan Baiyao?

Yunnan Baiyao is available over the counter, but consult with a veterinarian before giving it to your dog, especially if your pet has pre-existing medical conditions or is taking other medications.

"After my dog's diagnosis of cancer at the end of February, we were devastated. The ER vet said to start Bonnie on Yunnan Baiyao every day, 3 times daily. I don't know if her longevity is due to this supplement or not, but her life expectancy was 3-5 months, and she is doing great and you'd never know she was ill. I can only presume that this supplement has contributed to her overall health."

Frequently Asked Questions

Help your pet with confidence

How do I give the capsule/powder to my pet?

You can give Yunnan Baiyao capsules to your pet as you would any other oral medication. Some dogs will take the capsule easily, while others are more apt to take it when hidden in a soft treat or piece of cheese. The capsule can be broken open and the powder sprinkled onto wet food, applesauce, or yogurt if your pet refuses to take it. The powder version works the same way!

Can I apply Yunnan Baiyao topically?

Yes, powdered Yunnan Baiyao can be applied topically to open wounds or sores to stop bleeding and speed up healing. Aerosol sprays and mists may be applied topically to painful areas or wounds, but the red-colored aerosol canister should not be used on open wounds.

To apply, sprinkle the powder over the wound and cover with a bandage. Check and reapply every 4 hours as needed.

What is the red pill? How do I know when to use it?

The red pill is a specialized dose of Yunnan Baiyao and is located under the foil directly in the middle of the package (not in one of the blisters). It is typically used in emergencies or severe bleeding situations. It is designed to be taken in conjunction with a regular dose of Yunnan Baiyao to help counteract symptoms of "shock". Do not give the red pill to your dog without consulting with a veterinarian first, as it may not be appropriate for all bleeding conditions.

"Grateful that our girl doesn't act like she has cancer. She's active and as happy as she has been before the diagnosis. Reputable product from a reputable source."

Nasal Cancer

"Our dog was diagnosed with nasal cancer 5/2022. He had been struggling with breathing for a few months before the diagnosis. We started him on Yunnan Baiyao on the recommendation of his internist. We noticed a difference in his breathing immediately. He was more playful than he had been in a very long time. The internist gave him 2-4 months, so we started on his bucket list. He just passed away!! We had an extra 8 months with him. I definitely believe this product helped him live a longer, happier life."

Alane

Hemangiosarcoma

"Yunnan Baiyao is truly a life extender for our dog, Teddy, diagnosed with a hemangiosarcoma of the spleen. While it's not a cure, Yunnan Baiyao has improved Teddy's quality of life and given him more days to live. He eats well, takes short walks, and enjoys getting treats. We are truly grateful our vet recommended this treatment and grateful we are able to enjoy more time with Teddy."

Hemangiosarcoma

"Our 9.5 yr old black female lab was diagnosed with a large hemangiosarcoma tumor (spleen) and surgery was not an option. She survived her first bleed in Oct 2022 and our vet recommended taking Yunnan baiyao. She has since survived additional bleeds. Each time she recovers, she is back to her happy, energetic self, loving to fetch and retrieve frisbees. We are thankful for each day with her since the initial timeframe given for her to survive was maybe 2 weeks. It's now been 4 months and she has taken yunnan baiyao daily."

Sara

Hemangiosarcoma

"Though visually happy and healthy, my 48-lb American Foxhound was diagnosed with a spleen tumor. When the tumor was discovered, she had a low red blood cell count, potentially due to some internal bleeding that was undistinguishable on an ultrasound. She is estimated to be 16 years old, so I did not want to put her through major abdominal surgery. The vet recommended Yunnan Baiyao, and she takes two pills, twice a day, with five days on and five days off. I stick them in a scoop of green lamb tripe. Upon having it checked today, her red blood cell count was back in normal range. The vet said no reason to have it checked again unless there is a noticeable change with her and to continue our Yunnan Baiyao routine."

Nasal cancer

"My tiny 4-lb yorkie is battling nasal cancer amongst a series of other ailments that come with being a senior, and requires this supplement as a daily part of her comfort and well-being for the time that she has left with us. She gets a bloody nose pretty often, and as there are no other options for her other than surgery which has a high mortality rate for her age (she's 15), this helps prevent her from having nasal discharge and allows her to eat and drink as she normally does. Really grateful to have found this miracle supplement. Thank you!"

Lillian C.

Hemangiosarcoma

"My dog has bleeding tumors on her belly and legs. Took her to a vet that prescribed Yunnan Baiyao within three days she stopped the worst of the bleeding. She is doing so much better and now the tumors are shrinking. I know she is not supposed to be on it forever but as long as she is happy and we don't have the constant bleeding I'm thrilled. Thank you for extending my dog's life."
